ABSTRACT

This report presents the enrollment data reported by Maryland public schools as of September 30, 1997. This information categorizes the data by race/ethnicity, gender, and grade level. Enrollment in Maryland public schools continues to escalate. Since 1990 enrollment has increased from 715,000 to nearly 831,000, an increase of 16%. This increase has occurred mostly in grades 7 to 12. The secondary school increase has been 21%, and the elementary increase has been 13%. Tables in this report present information about the 425,282 male and 405,462 female students in membership in the Maryland schools. The racial composition of this student body has changed since 1990, and the number of schools has risen. Currently, 1,297 public schools report information on numbers of students, their racial and ethnic composition, and numbers of schools by grade organization. This information is summarized in 28 tables. (SLD)

Introduction

Enrollment in Maryland public schools continues to escalate. Since 1990 enrollment has increased from 715 thousand to nearly 831 thousand, an increase of 16%. This increase has occurred mostly in the grade 7 to 12 range. The secondary school level increase has been 21% and the elementary school level increase was 13%. With the exception of five school systems, the enrollment in all jurisdications increased since last year. The exceptions were Allegany, Dorchester, Garrett, and Somerset counties and Baltimore City.

This report presents the enrollment data reported as of September 30, 1997. School level data were reported for each school by the local school systems and aggregated to the school system and state levels. This information categorizes the data by race/ethnicity, gender, and grade level.

There are 425,282 male students and 405,462 female students in membership. The percentage of male versus female enrollments has not changed since the 1990 data were reported.

	1990	1997
American Indian/Alaskan Native	.2%	.3%
Asian/Pacific Islander	3.5%	4.0%
African American	32.9%	36.1%
White	66.1%	55.9%
Hispanic	2.3%	3.7%

The racial composition of Maryland public schools has changed since 1990. Figure 1 on this page summarizes the race/ethnic categories by percentage of the total enrollment in 1990 and 1997.

In addition to the increase in number of students enrolled, the number of schools has also risen. There are currently 1,297 schools reporting September 30 enrollment compared to 1,217 schools in 1990. This report includes only those schools which are considered "home-based schools" or the primary school for attendance purposes.

The number of schools are categorized based on the grade levels served. The categories include:

- Elementary - grades prekindergarten through 6
- Middle - grades 6 through 8
- High - grades 9 through 12
- Combined - grades which have some overlapping combination of elementary, middle and high schools
- Other - includes schools which do not report enrollment for specific grades, e.g., special education centers.
